

Dyslexia United

25 March 2017

Workshops

Workshop 1 It's not all about the spelling...	A fun and active session on creative language and poetry with poetry genius Anita Govan.
Workshop 2 Choosing to learn in a way that works for YOU - what you enjoy and how you learn.	This can be from exploring through using visuals, or sound, or movement - we'll find what works for you in this workshop with Rossie Stone of Dekko Comics.
Workshop 3 Dyslexia Scotland young Ambassadors	Some practical tips about dyslexia from our Young Ambassadors, and a bit about what they do.
Workshop 4 Have you got what it takes to be a creative writer?	Iain McKinnon has 5 novels in print and a master's degree in creative writing - pretty good for a boy who wasn't allowed to sit an English exam at school because he was too 'stupid'. Iain struggled with education until his dyslexia was spotted and since then he has used the advantages of dyslexia to help his writing.
Workshop 5 Dyslexia Mural	Work alongside the creator of the Great Scottish Tapestry Andrew Crummy to design a dyslexia mural.

www.dyslexiascotland.org.uk

