

Revision Support

StudyBlue Flashcards & Quizzes

StudyBlue is one of the more popular study platforms. The app allows you to make your own flashcard sets and invite friends to view them, or share them on the platform, as well as download sets made by other users (some sets for purchase). Notes from the Evernote app (#1) can be imported into StudyBlue and turned into flashcards. Sign in with Google+ or Facebook, or register with an email address.

The platform is available on the Web (main site), iOS Android.

Mentoring St. Mungo's

SimpleMind – Organise your thoughts

Mind mapping is a great study method as it helps organise your thoughts, spark your memory and come up with new ideas.

With SimpleMind you can create your own mind maps, or you can opt for one of the auto layouts and fill it in. You can work to any scale you like as it boasts a virtually unlimited page size and number of elements.

Promising review: 'I've tried many other mind map software and find this the best. Love that it has the free-form template option to allow moving topics wherever you want and not forced to the fixed mode. Most mind map software doesn't have this.'

Get it on Android or iOS.

Mentoring St. Mungo's

Quizlet - Quizzes

A study and flashcard app, Quizlet lets you create quizzes with your own information.

There are also 400million quizzes already available across a wide range or areas.

Get it on Google Play or Download on the App Store

Tarsia Jigsaw

Click on the link above

Mentoring St. Mungo's

Gojimo – practice questions

It has over 40,000 practice questions ready to go and free! Check content is correct.

Focus on the specific areas you need to work, with instant feedback.

Get it on Google Play or Download on the App Store

Planning & organisation

Exam Countdown Lite - Visual reminder of exam dates

Subject	Category	Time Remaining
Mathematics	Algebra	27 minutes (6 Apr @ 12:39)
Geography	Paper 1	23 hours (6 Apr @ 12:53)
Science	Chemistry	1 day (6 Apr @ 20:54)
English	Literature	8 days (14 Apr @ 12:55)
Drama	Performance	26 days (2 May @ 12:57)
Computer Science	Coding	112 days (27 Jul @ 12:59)

Find it hard to keep track of your upcoming exams? This app provides a handy visual reminder of all your important upcoming dates. You'll keep yourself focused as you can easily check how much time you've got to cram before you sit each exam.

You can colour code all your exams and tests and use icons as a quick visual reference for each subject. You can also add notes to remind yourself of anything you need to bring on the day.

Promising review: 'Nicely organised and colourful. Easy to use, simple set up. Great for when you want to see how close you are to finishing and seeing the list of completed exams.'

Mentoring
St. Mungo's

Get it on Android or iOS.

My Study Life – Build your own timetable

Designed for high school students, this calendar app lets you build your own timetable to easily keep track of your classes, assignments and exams.

It lets you assign tasks to specific classes and comes with reminders so you don't forget a thing! Plus, it comes with day and week rotation timetables, so you can easily pop in those classes or assessments that you only have every other week.

Promising review: 'Excellent App. Tried a few apps similar and this is by far the best. Can't live without it now. Thoroughly recommend.'

Mentoring
St. Mungo's

Get it on iOS

UNSTUCK – STOP PROCRASTINATION

It is quite possible to get caught between what you want to be doing and what you should be doing, causing you to waste time or experience a mental block. When you're having a learning block, the Unstuck app can help you out of it.

The app lets you explore how you are currently feeling, then choose some option cards to decide how to get out of whatever state of mind you are in – be it conflicted, indecisive, overwhelmed, stumped, unmotivated or one of the several other choices. While this is not a study app per se, it's valuable in that if you are procrastinating about studying, it's probably because you are "stuck" about something, from which the app can help you escape.

Unstuck is available for Web, Android and iOS, with the latter having different versions for iPhone and iPad. Details on the site.

Relaxation & Mindfulness

Headspace: Meditation & Mindfulness

Getting too stressed? Taking time to relax is just as important as putting in the hours! Meditation can be a great way to unwind as it relaxes and encourages focus which will also help you when you get back to your studies.

Headspace has loads of different courses that are designed to help you with different aspects of your life. There's a Sleep course which unsurprisingly helps with sleep and a Productivity courses which (you've guessed it) helps with productivity.

Promising review: 'This has been so helpful for me. I cannot recommend it enough. I was never able to meditate before and now I feel like I'm on the way and it's helped me bring some peace to my thoughts.'

Get it on Android or iOS.

Offtime

Do you sit down to study only to get instantly distracted by calls, texts, emails or social media alerts? Then you might need Offtime in your life!

Offtime allows you to block incoming calls, texts and notifications for set periods of time and can also stop you accessing apps during this time so no more endless scrolling through your Insta feed instead of getting down to work!

It even tracks your usage of your phone and apps so you can see just how long you spend procrastinating throughout the day!

Promising review: 'It allows me to better be in control of my time. I'm a student and it puts my mind at ease not feeling the need to constantly reach for my phone while I study.'

Get it on Android.

Mentoring
St. Mungo's

Study Music Memory Booster

Want to focus better? Listening to music can help clear your mind and get things done. With Study Music, you can choose different music for different tasks like studying, reading and being creative.

Plus, you can add in nature sounds or alpha waves to your chosen music which has been said to make it easier to relax and improve your focus - think of it like being able to bring a piece of the great outdoors with you to the library!

Get it on Android or iOS.

Mentoring
St. Mungo's